VERGENNES UNION HIGH SCHOOL
VERGENNES, VERMONT
1987

BLUE AND WHITE

urprise! From your Co-Editors.

Yearbooks just do not come together overnight. It takes many long and tedious hours of drawing layouts, taking pictures, and proofreading. Without Mrs. Grant, the past six yearbooks would not have been such successes. In addition to her yearbook abilities, Mrs. Grant also teaches Sophomore English. We all remember Cut and Paste Day!

Yearbooks have come a long way with Mrs. Grant's help. She is a very talented English teacher, a great friend, and respected by many for her hard work and efforts.

We now take the opportunity to thank her. We are dedicating the 1987 Blue and White Yearbook in honor of Mrs. Elma Grant.

Before I gaze at you
again,
I'll need a time for
tears.
Before I gaze at you
again,
Let hours turn to
years.
I have so much
forgetting to do,
Before I try to gaze
at you ...

SENIORS

Once upon a time King Eric and Queen Amy

ruled in a small kingdom of

Vergennes

Union High School. 1986 was a good year and 1987

looked even brighter.

Although school

took its toll,

the citizens of Vergennes knew how to let it all out.

However, they also knew

how to work hard

to impress their teachers.

People from neighboring kingdoms heard of this wonderful place and decided to join them.

Religion was important to them and they worshipped

many gods.

For entertainment, the citizens

attended play production

and the circus.

They also threw great parties such as the Masquerade Ball in January.

The Blue and White, the royal newspaper, was edited by the town gossips,

who got some of their information from the local marshals

and deputies.

The editors also kept the citizens up to date on the latest dress styles and hair styles.

The mode of transportation ranged from primitive to very modern.

The citizens of

Vergennes were content with their Kingdom for several years, but finally decided to move on and explore new horizons.

And so ends

the saga of the Class of '87.

PROM NIGHT

... IN CAMELOT

The rain may never fall till after sundown. By eight the morning fog must disappear. In short there's simply not a more congenial spot, for happily-ever-aftering, than here in Camelot. In the lusty month of May, on the devine evening of the seven-teenth, in the eighty sixth year of the century, gathered the citizens of Camelot for fun and frolicking beside the enchanted pools. The court consisting of ladies Sarah LaBerge, Michelle Erickson, Amy Chamberlain and Jennifer Valz; and gentlemen Bernie Lopez, Les Fuller, Shannon Palmer, and Jason Clark whirled in dance to the melodies of Phil Abair and the Show Stoppers. The elegant ladies and gentlemen of the court were eclipsed only by the grace of Queen Amy Shackett and the charm of King Eric Griswold. The evening was filled with excitement and laughter, and ended with a bang at the residence of Sarah LaBerge, where everyone partied till dawn.

What do the simple
folk do?
To help them escape
when they're blue?
They obviously outshine us at turning tears to
mirth.
Oh, what do simple
folk do?

... AND STUFF

AND STUFF, by Peter Dee, expresses what is wonderfully glorious about being a teen today—and what is profoundly difficult; the lonely search for identity and acceptance, the theme of spirit and creation and stuff. The play sings, shrieks, cries, laughs, dances, whispers, and finds its source. It makes a voice an experience, an experience communication. (Directed by Mrs. Nancy Prescott and taken to the Vermont State One Act Festival at Johnson, Vermont.)

HELLO!

Here we are, a bunch of happy seniors. Life is going great this year. We are all having a wonderful time, as you can see by the wonderful smiles on our faces. As this year develops, we learn more about ourselves and our friends. In this last year that we will be together, we have grown closer and closer. 1987 has proven to be a very important year for us.

A law was made a distant
moon ago here.
July and August cannot
be too hot.
By order, summer lingers
through September.
in Camelot ...
In short there's simply
not a
more congenial spot for happily
ever-aftering than here in Camelot.

CAMELOT - 1986

The Commodores did themselves proud last week-end, with their production of Camelot. Directed Dorothy Tisbert had her charges believing in themselves, with the result that they sang and danced with remarkable aplomb. It's a "heavy" show, with many scenes and set changes, but John Metruk's set design, and Ethelyn Bartlett's decoration made for smooth, quick transitions. The marvelous costumes and Susan Philputt's sure baton were the final touches that gave the show such professionalism. Chris Myott and Julie Longfellow were a wonderful pair as Arthur and Guenevere and Scott LaLumiere made a good Lancelot. Tim Lynk was lots of fun as King Pellinore and Steve Burt was truly odious as the evil Mordred. Julie Tisbert whipped up a brief storm as Morgan LeFay, and Julie Spencer did a hauntingly beautiful solo as the enchantress Nimue. Tom Longfellow did a superb job as Merlyn the Magician, and Shannon Palmer, Brian LaLumiere, and Aaron Harris had a good romp with the queen in "Take Me to the Fair". It was a show to be proud of, by all concerned. Vergenes created a most congenial Camelot. Choreographer-Barb Lanpher. (Adapted from The Valley Voice, November 25, 1986.)
