Walkathon

Walkathon for the Joshua Frase Foundation

For the Class of 2014 the Walkathon was to honor a fellow VUHS Student Kyle Grant. Coming to school each day for Kyle presents many more challenges than faced by his peers. Yet with humor, grace and the most genuine and gallant nature, Kyle has overcome to be a senior. This walkathon honors him and his classmates who reached great goals and self realization through working together.

Whether it is in French or English, Matt DeBlois has always had a passion for learning. Growing up in Laconia, New Hampshire with paternal grandparents who were first generation Americans from Quebec, DeBlois grew up hearing French and frequently being exposed to it as the grandparents came for weekly visits.

Even through DeBlois was admittedly now overly successful in high school, he took advantage of many clubs, teams and groups at his high school to stay engaged in the school years. With a goal of "imparting passion for learning in his students," DeBlois focuses his French program not only on the spoken and written language, but the French culture as well. In addition to showing his students how to attack learning a foreign language, DeBlois stresses the grammar and parts of speech that help them break down parts of all written language.

Like most teachers, DeBlois wears many additional "hats" at the school and is an adviser for the Class of 2016, oversees the VUHS morning meeting/advisory program, works with school groups around the Performance Based Graduation Requirements, coaches basketball at a local elementary school and works as a volunteer with the Vergennes Area Youth League. Nominated for the honor of UVM teacher of the year by his peers, comments about DeBlois included, " Matt DeBlois leads both his peers and his students with humor, intellect and a keen insight that develops the individuality of each of his students."

Leading the Morning Meeti movement at VUHS, Mr. De helps focus energies and effo building relationships with stu and the community.

Just as fast with parts of speech as he is with a quip or sarcasm, Matt DeBlois has his own style and brings language alive for his students.

Vous ne savez jamais comment tu es fort jusqu'à être fort est le seul choix que vous avez.

VUHS TEACHER OF THE YEAR MATT DEBLOIS

Musician, Teacher, Mentor, Friend

When the senior class looked for the name of the individual who had the greatest impact on their journey from adolescence to adulthood one name quickly rose to the top of the list. With a style that engages, intrigues and is just plain theatrical, this teacher has as much music in his soul as he does laughter. Coming to teaching after a career in film and music, this teacher arrived on the scene in 1999 and purchased the Emerson Guest House doing the entire restorative work themselves. Following his passion for education, this teacher joined VUHS staff in 2005 and has never once looked back. Challenging each member of the Class of 2014 as an individual, he is often heard to say, "How can you form your own opinion until you have heard and understand both sides of the argument?" Pushing boundaries with dedication speeches and reaching into his bag of tricks again and again has touched the heart of so many of the VUHS Class of 2014. While they will leave the halls of VUHS behind this year, with them will be pieces of the man they thank above all else for giving them the push, passion and pure love of learning that helped them see what the future could hold. Come up here Chris Wyckoff and give us that laugh, that smile and let us give to you a token of the blessings you have brought to us. With thanks and love, the VUHS Class of 2014 dedicates its Blue & White to Mr. Chris Wyckoff, honoring and paying attention to the man behind the mask.

Whether playing his beloved music, wrestling with a challenging text, or simply sharing part of his wit and personal style, he has interwoven his life into the hearts of the Class of 2014.

All Things Are Current Found

ALL things are current found
On earthly ground,
Spirits and elements
Have their descents.

Night and day, year on year,
High and low, far and near,
These are our own aspects,
These are our own regrets.

Ye gods of the shore,
Who abide evermore,
I see you far headland,
Stretching on either hand;

I hear the sweet evening sounds
From your undecaying grounds;
Cheat me no more with time,
Take me to your clime.

-Henry David Thoreau

Nothing Gold Forever Stays

I love you
Not only for what you are
But for what I am
When I am with you.

I love you
Not only for what
You have made of yourselves
But for what
You have made of me
For that part of me
That you bring out;

I love you because you
Have helped me to make
Of the lumber of my life
Not a tavern
But a temple
Out of the works
Of my everyday
Not a reproach
But a song

I love you
Because you have done
More than any creed
Could have done
To make me good,
And that any fate
Could have done
To make me happy.

You have done it
Without a touch,
Without a word,
Without a sign.
You have done it
By being yourselves.

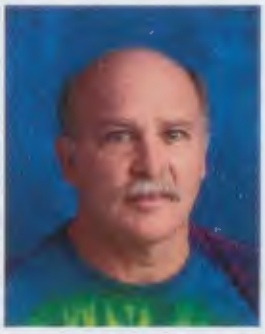
Adapted from a poem by Roy Croft

It was 22 years ago I entered into an uncertain venture that over time has provided me with a rich and rewarding learning experience in library studies. I have been an active participant in a dynamic field that has pioneered the effective use of technology to access and retrieve resources for learning and teaching.

I have had the serendipitous good fortune to solve one of the great problems confronting most people during their journey through life, the discovery of meaningful work that takes into account the needs of others and satisfies my own need to serve.

When I started out at VUHS, I wondered how it was I ended up in a small public school library with a very tired book collection. Although well intentioned, I was clueless about the operation of a modern high school library.

In that first year we discarded thousands of books , sent out our shelf list for conversion to computer readable records, set up CD-Rom workstations, commandeered the Audio Visual resources, and put in place the first required use of computer technology to access resources for learning by the VUHS community. That was the start of a sometimes wild, high speed adventure that has continued through today.



Over the years we created the school's first public access network for the library catalog, accessed bulletin boards and the internet via modem, acquired funding for and installed the first school wide cat 5 computer network and engaged most of our colleagues in discussions about how the library might support their teaching. At the same time student and faculty demand for library access and resources increased dramatically.

Celebrating Chris Brady

I was blessed at the millennium with a facility that reflected the energy and enthusiasm that I brought to work. The new library space has turned out to be the hub of the school and a vibrant student centered facility providing myriad opportunities for learning, teaching and gathering together.

As much as anything else I am most grateful for the story or history I have lived here at VUHS. The challenging work here has allowed me to undergo a transformation. I have developed capabilities, gained insights, shifted my mental models and continuously changed my assumptions about my work and inter-relationships with my community.

It is with sadness that that I bid a fond farewell to Vergennes Union High School, but it is with gladness that I say, I have lived a better life because of my work with all of you and for that, I Thank You.

How do you measure... A season of life?

In smiles... In friendships.
